

Please do not allow use of cell phones on air flights. Travel on airlines is already so crowded and uncomfortable that many people avoid air flight when possible. There is no justifiable reason to permit this additional discomfort to travelers. Business travelers already have access to computerized communications which does not usually disturb other passengers. There is no overriding reason to make air travel more of a trial than it now is. Allowing passengers to use cell phones in flight will undoubtedly cause loud and unruly problems for flight attendants and passengers.
